<input type="checkbox"/> I consent <input type="checkbox"/> I Do Not consent to Council communicating with me by email or SMS (Council highly values and respects your privacy and will not release or sell your private information).
I, as named above, give consent for goods owned by me and as described below, to be offered, for sale at the auction held by Diamantina Shire Council. Reserve Price: You can set a reserve price and you must put this in writing. If you do not set a reserve price, the Auctioneer will accept the highest bid (even if it is below your expectations). I acknowledge that my goods may not sell at auction and that Diamantina Shire Council holds no responsibility for the sale of my goods. I agree to have my goods on site at least two days prior to the auction. If I require assistance in transporting the items for auction, I will advise Council. I acknowledge Council holds no responsibility for property being transported or stored for the purpose of auction. Vendor bids: In Queensland, you can bid on your own property, but only up to the reserve price. Before the bid price reaches the reserve price, the auctioneer can accept bids from you to raise the price or accept bids from your representative. A dummy bid is an attempt to raise the bidding, after the reserve price has been reached. Dummy bids are illegal. Privacy Statement: Diamantina Shire Council will take all necessary steps to protect your privacy under the Information Privacy Act 2009 and the Information Privacy Principles that are in that Act. We will tell you why we need your personal information. We will not collect unnecessary information.

COUNCIL ACCEPTANCE
After the auction: If the bidding is past the reserve price, the vendor must accept the highest bid as the sale price. The buyer and owner/representative will need to sign for the sale of property right away. If the bidding didn't reach the reserve price, you/representative may enter into negotiations with a bidder to achieve the best price. Any unsold goods will be available for collection by you or your representative at the completion of the auctions.
